"I believe that now is the time. as a committee, to recommend to council that the prison farm should be sold," said Ald. Wilson, chairman of the Parks and Markets committee of the City Council, when meeting on Saturday morning to consider the renting of some of the city's land.

"Yes," remarked Ald. Pheseay. "even if the city did not secure much more than half of what was paid for "Prices are good," went on Ald. Wilson, "farms sell and rent easily, and we should probably get as good an offer now for the farm as at any time. The city could do with the money, and it has no business now to be leasing farms."

No recommendation was made on the matter, but the conversation was indicative of the feeling that prevails in regard to the prison farm.

The facts are as follows: By a judgment of claim issued on the 7th of July 1912, the plaintiff claimed that as parties had been carrying on a business as partners as well since 1912 until for that the past year and eight months the defendant, Cap Boon, had used the entire amount of the business and that he was misconducting himself in various ways and thereby was for an inducement to restrain him from dealing with the assets of the partnership, a receiver be appointed and a dissolution of partnership.

Later, the plaintiff obtained an ex parte order restraining the said defendant from dealing in or disposing of or receiving any part of the assets of the partnership and thereupon in the 16th of August the receiver was appointed.

and the stock in trade. The firm, being the means of certain premises under a lease expiring the 31st of March, 1900, the defendant, MacCamy, testifies that when he made the purchase he thought he was purchasing the stock in trade and the premises. The defendant further testifies that the plaintiff had consulted his solicitors as to his right in entering into the purchase and that he had been advised by his own account and accordingly he had entered into the purchase on the premises for two years. The plaintiff now asks for a declaration that the defendant has no right in the partnership.

ARE BEING KEPT UP TO STRENGTH

Commissioner Perry is Not Informed However, as to Disposition of Force

According to Commissioner A. B. Murray, of the R.N.W.M.P., who was en route to the city this week, he is not sure whether or not the information as to whether the force is to be sent overseas or not. About 200 men of the force in the west have been given training outside of Canada by the Ottawa authorities and have returned to their former posts. Further information has come from the Ottawa authorities that the force and the men to the front and many of them believe the order will not come.

The commissioner states, however, that in case a detachment should be called upon to go overseas, the force in Alberta will be kept up to full strength.

purpose again asking for recruits, and intend to bring the numbers up to 750. There are now 750 on the force.

Hundreds Have Enlisted.

Hundreds of the "mounties" have already enlisted, having joined up with the military department in the organization of the force with the mounted force. Besides contributing large numbers in men, the force has given very generously to the Patriotic fund. The fund, the Commissioner states that since the war began $40,000 has been donated to the Patriotic fund by the boys. Some of this was contributed individually, but the majority was raised by entertainments planned such as the symphonia which took place re-

Work of the Mounties.
While many have been wondering at what the work of the "mounties" is involved since the establishment of the provincial police, the commissioner says their task now is more one of prevention than anything else. There are in the northwest a quar-

There has been no trouble of any dimensions at all throughout the whole country, the presence of an armed force here such as the N.W.M.P. is deemed very desirable. Would any trouble occur in a form-born settlement, the fact that there was a force close at hand, a body which settlers could call, would prevent anything like a panic in that district, says the commissioner.

Watching the Borders.

The watching of the borders is one of the chief tasks of the force, and the commissioner says he anticipates trouble whatever from the much-of their order have come into the hands, they are too far from their own base to be able successfully to create a serious disturbance. Furthermore, the Government believes the Canadian Government will make good soil on which to nourish I.W.W. propaganda. Agitators have been dealt with very harshly in the past, and the Government believes that areas that even there their effect has been very negligible.

Duty in Far North.

It is true that the force have been doing excellent work in the far north, but the Government believes the assertion, "The country right up to the Arctic Circle is under the W.M.P., and these lonely outpost men to possess a strange attraction for the men of the force. They are threes, and are only allowed to fish there two years. Longer time is given them to do good for the natives, to collect and distribute medicine and other things, and to teach them. They enjoin the natives never to quarrel, and to be friendly, and trap and shoot along their allotted work. Those on the shore have their chief work on the whaling ships from San Francisco and other southern points. The police are sent to the natives, policemen to protect the natives from the white man, instead of the other way, as might be supposed, as the whites are prone to take very un- advantage of the simple-minded natives. The natives regard the whites as their lords and masters, and as of right, to their waste.
